CONTAINER BUNK HOUSES : AN INTRODUCTION

Container Bunk Houses offer solutions in situations where fast and adequate housing is needed.

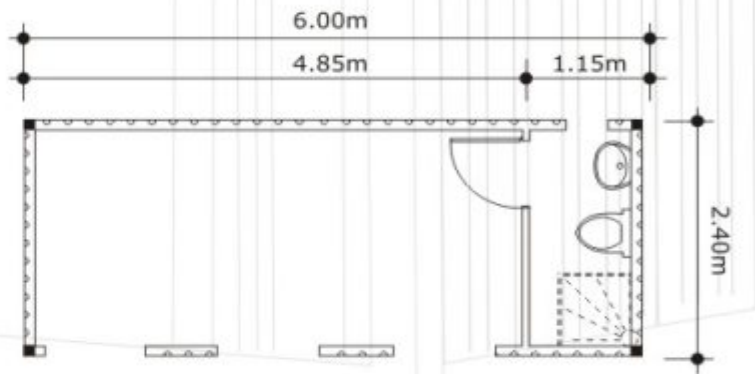

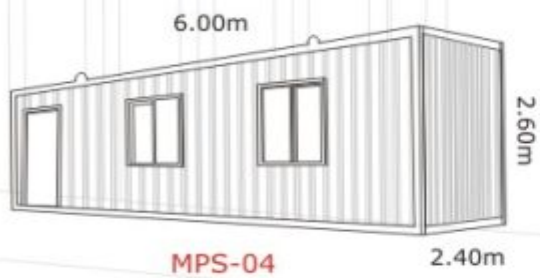

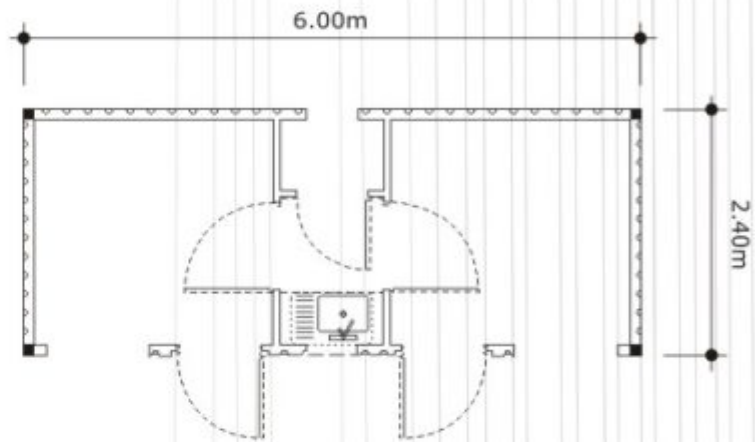

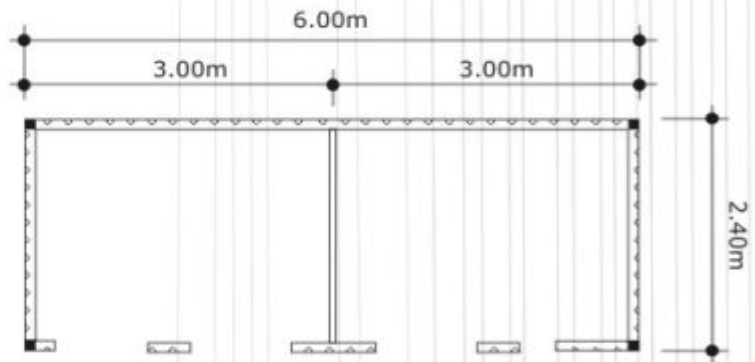

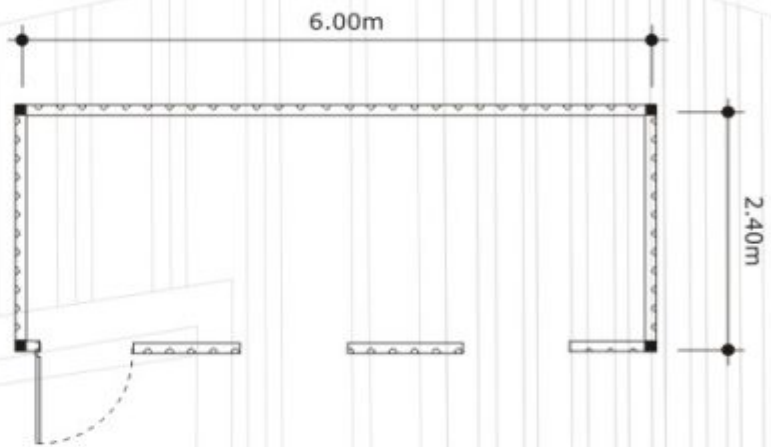

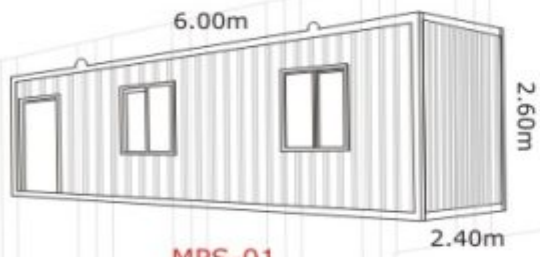

Temporary Accommodation always requires smart logistic approaches to act fast and to keep set up times short. Customers expect also a good return on their investment: even after relocation, the housing units need to retain their value. In many circumstances, there is not much land available to build temporary housing. This is exactly why container sheds are used to create housing solutions. They are easy to transport, have a low cost, are flexible, structurally very strong and have many standardized solutions for stacking.
